Director's Message

Once again, I am pleased to present the year in review for Public Safety. The City of Happy Valley is a working example of a community that has strived for, and successfully created, an environment of safety and security for its residents through cooperative enforcement, responsible management and an informed and involved citizenry.

We know that criminals do not recognize geographic boundaries, which makes crime prevention a pivotal element in Happy Valley's relatively crime-free environment. We also know that a community where people can feel safe to live, work and visit is a community that will thrive. The rewards of our efforts are neighborhoods that grow, businesses that prosper and a desirable quality of life. On the following pages you will see a profile of each partner in Happy Valley's public safety. The work we do is important, and the people who do it give it their all. Thanks to all for another good year.

National Night Out

The City's National Night Out event was recognized for the second year in a row.

National Night Out takes place every August in communities across 50 states, U.S. territories and military bases worldwide. It provides a night of opportunity for neighborhood block parties where citizens, law enforcement and fire district personnel meet and mingle with citizens to promote increased awareness through safety education and neighborhood vigilance.

This was Happy Valley's fourth year of participation. The event has grown through citizen awareness and popularity. Over 24 registered block parties with over 1,800 participants took part in last August's NNO.

The 2011 National Night Out event recorded participation from 37.1 million people in 15,325 communities. Approximately 65 Oregon communities registered. Of those, only three were awarded national recognition. Happy Valley ranked first in Oregon and 21st in the nation for "Cities Under 15,000 Population". The City was also an award winner in 2010 with a 29th place ranking in that category.

The 2011 National Night Out Award was officially presented to the City Council at the February 7, 2012 meeting. (L to R: Councilor Michael Morrow; Community Services staff members Stephani Hern and Steve Campbell; HVPD Chief Strangfield; Mayor DeRemer; Councilor Tom Ellis; Councilor Tom Andrusko; City Manager Jason Tuck)

PROJECT 365

Between now and National Night Out 2013, registered NNO groups are asked to designate an identifiable goal - from graffiti to crime - and work towards correcting that problem within an estimated '365 days', i.e. NNO 2013. Our Happy Valley Youth Council, in conjunction with the City's National Night Out participation will focus on drug abuse and cyber bullying and their long term effects on the teen population. To that end, community focus events "Prescription Drug Turn-in Day" and "Bully Block Day" are on the agenda of the Happy Valley Youth Council.

HV Youth Council

Above: Internet-searching participants soon learned there was no shortage of bully posts to block.

Below: HV Youth Councilors join Mayor DeRemer at the April 30th Prescription Drug Turn-In Day event.

Prescription Drug Take-Back Events

The Happy Valley Youth Councilors organized two Rx Drug Take Back events in conjunction with the Clackamas County Sheriff's Office and the DEA. One event was in April and the other in October. In total, they aided 143 residents, packaged 35 boxes, and got more than 430 pounds of unwanted prescription drugs out of household cabinets and safely away from the water supply.

Youth Town Hall

One of the goals of the HVYC is to give Happy Valley area teens a voice. At their 2nd annual Youth Town Hall, the Councilors asked the attendees what changes they would like to see in their community. This input is what drives the HVYC's projects and efforts. The 1st annual youth town hall was the catalyst for the Rx Drug Take Back participation and Bully Block Day.

Bully Block Day

Bullying affects teens every day. Recent national news coverage of suicide and murders as a result of bullying spurred the Youth Councilors to organize Bully Block Day. Armed with computers and their desire to fight against bullying, teens in the community came together and logged into social networking sites and blocking over 800 inappropriate posts.

Juvenile Diversion

A Historical Look at Juvenile Diversion Panels in Clackamas County

The development of Clackamas County City Diversion panels was based on the underlying assumptions that community involvement with minor offenders was beneficial to all involved, and holding youth accountable in their own town provided the opportunity for cause and effect associations regarding actions and consequences.

In July, 2002, the Clackamas Juvenile Department officially began the City Diversion Panel Project, allowing cities to be involved with its low risk offenders and hold more juveniles accountable to their own community while providing an opportunity for the Juvenile Department to focus its attention in “high risk” offenders. Happy Valley joined in 2008.

Year in Review In 2011 there were 73 violations, misdemeanors and status offenses committed by 66 youth. Juvenile reports of criminal activity were down throughout the county in 2011. Of the 13 Diversion Panels, Happy Valley, Oregon City and Milwaukie see the majority of the juvenile cases. Community service hours were down due to the decrease in numbers as well as new restrictions on Panels to the number that may be assigned per case. A decrease in Volunteer hours was another result of decreased cases.

Crime Prevention

Home Security Surveys

A free Home Security Survey is available to all residents by scheduling an appointment with the City's crime prevention specialist. Community outreach on this service continues to grow through the city's newsletter and website reminders, and by word of mouth within the community. 13 home security surveys were completed from year-end 2010 through 2011.

Neighborhood Watch

Community awareness education is the foundation to crime prevention. The City, through its' Crime Prevention Specialist, has provided HOAs with Neighborhood Watch information and requested input from their residents. Two Neighborhood Watch presentations in two separate subdivisions were given.

Traffic and Public Safety Committee

Members of the Committee joined the Happy Valley Police Department and Clackamas County Fire District for National Night Out tours. This night provided yet another opportunity to hand out crime prevention and Neighborhood Watch materials to residents. The TPSC partnered with Clackamas County Traffic Safety Commission, Safe Communities and the Clackamas Town Center for the annual Road and Safety Fair in August. The venue provided the opportunity to hand out traffic, pedestrian and bicycle safety materials to the public.

A free Home Security Survey is available to all residents by scheduling an appointment with the City's crime prevention specialist.

Ongoing Training and Certifications

- As part of the Emergency Operations Center, completed ten on-line courses through the Federal Emergency Management Team for National Incident Management System
- Attended Regional Graffiti Abatement Summit through the Office of Neighborhood Involvement, City of Portland
- Seminar: 'Crime Prevention through Environmental Design' through the Crime Prevention Association of Oregon and Eugene Police Department in Eugene, OR

Catherine Albrecht

Community Prevention Specialist Catherine Albrecht has 28 years of law enforcement background and has been a member of the City's Traffic and Public Safety Committee for over 10 years.

CERT Coordinator Robin Wheeler oversees the Happy Valley CERT team and is also a certified instructor for CERT's initial training course.

CERT team members use the opportunity of local events, such as this November, 2010 Flu Vaccine Clinic at Happy Valley City Hall- a public exercise to drill emergency responders for planning and preparations where mass-dispensing of medication or other items may be needed.

Community Emergency

Response Teams (CERT) consist of local citizen volunteers who train for neighborhood and community preparedness and are activated in the wake of disasters or emergency events.

Happy Valley CERT gained seven new members in 2011 and now stands 25 strong, with 4 more members-in-training. Structured within 3 teams based on areas where they reside, the members train together every other month, working cohesively in preparation of any given emergency situation. CERT members attended 27 hours of advanced training in 2011.

Local events provide training opportunities. CERT members worked the Happy Valley Fun Run for an opportunity to practice radio use and effective communication with team members. They filled sand bags for the city's Public Works as a team exercise during January's storms.

Grant money received in 2011 provided for CERT equipment for the Happy Valley team. The team has set goals to increase membership, strengthen community relationships and provide quality, advanced training to team members in 2012.

Municipal Court

Court and Legislation

2011 legislation brought significant changes that impacted statutes and fines. HB 2712 was enacted on July 1, 2011 and became effective January 1, 2012. It:

- Equalized presumptive fines for all jurisdictions. Additionally, both minimum and maximum fines as allowed by ORS were revised.
- Revised plea options for defendants. For violations, Courts may now accept a plea of No Contest or Not Guilty. A plea of Guilty remains an option for misdemeanors.
- Revised the cell phone law to remove clause excluding their use in the scope of employment, with exception for allowed use by first/emergency responders.
- Creation of new violation for Failure to Yield in a Roundabout. (We have 2 in our city.)
- Reduces fine for Possession of < 1 oz. Marijuana from $1000 to $650.
- Parking in reserved handicap spot was reduced from a Class A/ $534 fine to a Class/C $160 (first offense) presumptive fine.

Court and Technology

Electronic ticketing received a software upgrade resulting in a streamlined citation for both violator and the court. Called Report Beam, it also provides officers a more user-friendly approach when completing crash and tow reports.

Court and Education & Diversion

Drivers Taking Safety Class Diversion Option 351

Fireworks Violators Completing Class Diversion Option 10

(Our class model was recognized as a successful and effective diversion, and as a result, the City of Sherwood adopted a similar program this year.)

Happy Valley Police

2007 2008 2009 2010* 2011
 * 2010 population updated after PSU revised numbers based on 2010 Census

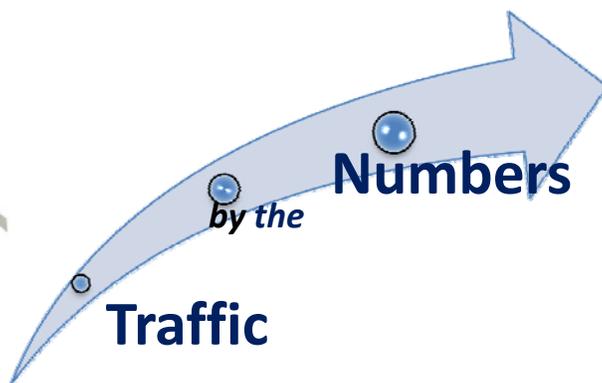

The Mission of the Happy Valley Police Department, in partnership with the Clackamas County Sheriff's Office, is to be a progressive and innovative organization that promotes, delivers and preserves an assurance of security, safety and quality law enforcement services to all people of the City of Happy Valley.

The Happy Valley Police force serves a growing 8 ½ square mile area with a population of over 14,000 residents. 10 full-time patrol officers, a detective, a community service officer and the police administration are stationed in the Community Policing Center. They serve the public as a safety hub where citizens can report crime, obtain various permits and information, have questions answered, or meet with an officer.

Aside from their top priorities which are to provide service for the preservation of life, the protection of property and the general safety and well being of our citizens, Happy Valley Police are also focused on being strong community partners. Education is one of their best tools as they reach out to the eager kindergartner or the sage senior citizen.

Participating in classroom education, the Safety Fair, National Night Out and other community events, the HVPD are the friendly, reliable faces our citizens support.

Clackamas Fire Dist. 1

The City of Happy Valley is served by four Clackamas Fire Stations. These stations include Station 5 on SE Causey, Station 6 on SE 129th & King Road, Station 7 on SE 172nd Avenue and Station 8 on SE 130th Avenue. All four stations are staffed 24/7 by career personnel, and provide advanced life support (ALS) care. Station 6 is the primary focus for reporting the 2011 activities.

- ⇒ Two Operation Santa Claus Parades took place in Happy Valley on December 17th and 18th. These two parades collected a total of 13 toy barrels and 23 food barrels. Twenty-seven food, toy and clothing boxes were distributed to local residents.
- ⇒ Station 6 hosted 15 station tours for community members.
- ⇒ Our Fire Prevention Division hosted two Open Houses at Happy Valley Stations during the month of October, which is National Fire Prevention Month. They were held on Saturday, Oct. 8th at Station 6 and on Saturday, Oct. 15th at Station 5. Overall, 400 community members attended various Open Houses. Fire prevention and life safety materials were widely distributed.
- ⇒ Stations 5, 6 and 7 participated in the annual National Night Out events to include both career and volunteer firefighters attending over 20 neighborhood events.
