SERVING OTHERS, NEAR and FAR

Veteran Tom Carter dedicates his life to service

From his early days volunteering with local emergency teams in Portland to 13 months as a combat medic in Vietnam, along with service in the Peace Corps and ongoing work improving access to clean water locally and around the world, helping others has played a big role in Tom Carter's life. Although he initially planned to become a teacher, his experiences on the front lines helping wounded soldiers inspired him to pursue a career in the medical field after returning home, working in a medical laboratory for many years and eventually starting a nonprofit organization with his wife, Susan Carter. For him, helping others is a constant, one that has shaped his life in many unexpected ways. Before joining the military, Carter was already dedicated to serving his community. He volunteered with the Parkrose Fire Department and the Mount Hood Ski Patrol for many years, gaining hands-on experience in emergency response. He spent two years in the Peace Corps from 1963 to 1965, which led to his interest in Latin America. After earning his teaching certificate at Portland State University, Carter completed his student teaching in English and social studies in the Beaverton School District before being drafted for service in Vietnam.

Drawing on his background, Carter volunteered for the Medical Corps. "When I was on the (Mount Hood Ski Patrol and also at the Parkrose Fire Department) while I was going to college, I helped out with first aid and the fires and so on," he said. "So when I was drafted into the Army, I ended up in the Medical corps because of my background in first aid." During his 13 months serving in Vietnam, Carter developed crucial medical and lifesaving skills that would influence his outlook on service and helping others. The role required quick thinking and calm under pressure. "It was a very, very emotional thing for me," he

"It doesn't matter what you know or what you can do ... if you have something, you can do it to make the community better or the world a little better."

ENJOY INDEPENDENCE DAY AT FAMILY FESTIVAL

Full day of fun awaits at July 4 event

City of Happy Valley

Celebrate the holiday with a day-long festival perfect for the whole family coordinated by Happy Valley

Parks and Recreation. The City's signature event begins in the morning with a trek hosted by the Happy Valley Hikers, followed by a community parade comprised of local businesses, residents and groups. Throughout the day at Happy Valley Park, visitors will enjoy live music, carnival games and inflatable structures, and a variety of food and beverage vendors, including a lively beer garden. The festival concludes with one of the best fireworks displays in the area.

said. “You’re not gonna be able to help them at all and others you can help. And some people don’t need much help and it’s just, it’s horrible, this really intense experience trying to help, trying to save people and big casualties. So that was a really stressful thing.”

However, he found it rewarding knowing that his efforts directly saved lives on the front lines. “In the end you think, ‘well, I helped that guy,’” he said. “I can think of a lot of people whom I really helped, including possibly saving some lives and so even though it was a horrible situation, I felt that I had done the best I could for everybody that I treated. It wasn’t pointless and wasn’t futile.” The experience not only honed his medical abilities but also strengthened his commitment to serving others.

After returning home, Carter’s experience in Vietnam left a lasting impact that shifted his focus toward the medical field. He earned a biology degree and spent many years working in a medical laboratory, where he was made aware of urgent public health needs related to clean water and hygiene.

Motivated by these challenges, Carter and his wife Susan co-founded Agua Pura Para el Pueblo, a nonprofit dedicated to improving access to clean water and hygiene education. They have traveled extensively throughout Latin and South America, including in rural Mexico as well as Honduras, Guatemala, the Dominican Republic and Panama, among others, to support communities with sustainable water solutions. “I knew from my laboratory experience how to do the testing and the analysis and at the same time, so I knew how important clean drinking water is or how much just basic clean sanitation is,” he said. “And so my wife and I founded this nonprofit and then for the last 17 years or so, we’ve been traveling to Latin America and the Caribbean all over promoting clean water and sanitation.”

Building on this work, Carter stays actively involved in his local community. “Now I’m on el Pueblo, a role that connects his early volunteer work, military service and health care background into a lifelong commitment to helping others.

Over the years, Carter has learned that service takes many forms, but at its core it’s about using one’s skills and experiences to make a meaningful difference. From Happy Valley to communities across Latin America, Carter’s commitment serves as a reminder that the impact of helping others can create lasting change. “I think people have a responsibility to share what they know to help other people,” he said. “It doesn’t matter what you know or what you can do ... if you have something, you can do it to make the community better or the world a little better.”

The general schedule is listed below:

■ 9:30 a.m. – Independence Day Hike

Meet the HV Hikers in the parking lot on Southeast 145th by the retention pond for a 2.6-mile hike that is relatively easy with minimal elevation. Dogs must be on a leash.

■ Noon – Family Parade

This signature event is a fun tradition, and anyone can participate. Southeast 145th Ave. between Southeast Ridgecrest Road and Southeast King Road will be closed to through traffic starting at 11 a.m. as parade participants line up for the event. The procession makes its way up Southeast Ridgecrest Road, with entrants completing the route at the park’s gazebo. Spectators can watch the parade from the sidewalk along Southeast Ridgecrest Road between Southeast 145th and the Happy Valley Park main entrance.

■ 1 p.m. – Family Festival at Happy Valley Park

Rock out to live music and enjoy access to food carts, vendor booths and family-friendly activities. *City issued wristbands are required to utilize carnival rides and inflatable attractions. City residents will enjoy complimentary access to these attractions with proof of residence. Non-residents will be required to pay $20.

■ At dark – Fireworks Show

Western Display Fireworks will amaze the Valley with their incredible show! The display is visible from Happy Valley Park and surrounding area to commemorate the day. *At the time

Honoring public safety and building stronger neighborhood connections

Tuesday, Aug. 5, 2025
6:30 p.m. – 9:30 (dark)
Happy Valley Park

City of Happy Valley

Get ready for an unforgettable summer evening as the community comes together to celebrate National Night Out, a nationwide event that highlights the importance of neighborhood relationships and the partnerships between residents and local public safety teams.

Presented by Happy Valley Parks and Recreation, this free event is an opportunity to meet the faces behind the badges, including Happy Valley Police, Clackamas County Sheriff's deputies and representatives from specialized law enforcement units. Crews from Clackamas Fire District #1, as well as City Councilors, Traffic and Public Safety Committee members and City staff will also be on hand to greet neighbors and answer questions.

Guests of all ages are invited to explore emergency vehicles, get up close to big rigs and discover the vital tools and equipment that help keep our city safe every day. Interactive safety booths and displays will provide helpful information about crime prevention, emergency preparedness and community programs.

When neighbors know and look out for each other, the whole community becomes stronger and more resilient. This event encourages those connections and helps create a network of care that benefits every street and block in Happy Valley.

A special spotlight will shine on the dedicated individuals of the Happy Valley Police Department, whose round-the-clock efforts help make our city a safe and welcoming place to live, work and play. Funded in part by a voter-supported Public Safety Levy, this team plays a crucial role in maintaining peace of mind for residents and businesses alike.

The evening also promises plenty of summer fun! Enjoy live music from crowd-favorite Slicker, known for their lively, feel-good performances. As dusk falls, prepare to be wowed by an exciting LED Glow Dance Show by Dancing Fire, lighting up the night with vibrant color and energy. Delicious food and beverages — including wine and beer — will be available for purchase on-site.

Neighborhood groups and HOAs are encouraged to attend together, making this the perfect chance to catch up with neighbors and meet new friends.

Don't fool with fireworks

Clackamas Fire District

According to the Oregon state fire marshal, you can practice the four BEs of safe fireworks to protect you and your family from fireworks-related fires and injuries.

Legal fireworks in Oregon include but are not limited to novelty devices, wheels, flitters, fountains, smoke devices and ground spinners. Illegal fireworks include but are not limited to sky lanterns, missiles, rockets, firecrackers, cherry bombs, M-80s, Roman candles and bottle rockets.

Be PREPARED:

- Store fireworks out of children's reach.
- Always read and follow label directions.
- Place pets indoors; they're easily frightened by fireworks.
- Always have water handy (a garden hose or bucket of water).

Be SAFE:

- An adult should always light fireworks.
- Keep matches and lighters away from children.
- Only use fireworks outdoors.
- Only light one firework at a time and quickly move away.
- Keep children and pets away from fireworks.
- Remember, do not throw fireworks or hold them.

Be RESPONSIBLE:

- Soak used fireworks thoroughly in a bucket of water.
- Dispose of used fireworks and debris properly.
- Never re-light "dud" fireworks.

Be AWARE:

- Use only legal fireworks and in legal places.
- Fireworks are prohibited in all public areas. This includes city parks, beaches, state parks, and state and federal forest lands.

For more information on fireworks safety, please contact our Fire Marshal's Office at 503-742-2660. You can also check out the City's designated fireworks safety webpage for important information at hv.city/fireworks.

Make summer fun with a neighborhood block party!

City of Happy Valley

Looking for a fun and easy way to bring your neighborhood together? Host a block party and turn an ordinary street into the ultimate summer hangout! Whether you're planning a BBQ, water games for the kids or just some good old-fashioned mingling, now's the perfect time to make it happen.

Through Labor Day weekend, the City is accepting applications for block party permits — it's simple and all online! You can even request a temporary street closure and safety barricades to create a safe, car-free zone where neighbors can relax, and kids can play.

The Happy Valley Parks and Recreation team is here to help you keep the summer vibes strong while building community connections that last. Don't wait — submit your application at least five business days before your event and let's make some memories!

Ready to plan your own neighborhood block party? Head online to www.happyvalleyor.gov/blockparty and fill out the virtual application form. One of our staff members will contact you to follow up.

COUNCIL CORNER

Youth Council says goodbye to graduates, welcomes new members

City of Happy Valley

One of the best parts of being a City Council is nurturing future leaders in Happy Valley. The Happy Valley Youth Council is one program that we are very proud to work with and it is no wonder that it is seen as an example across the nation.

The Happy Valley Youth Council is comprised of high school students who live in the city and demonstrate the ability to take initiative. This council gives these teens a chance to express their opinions and lead projects that make a difference in the community. Since it started, Happy Valley’s Youth Council has created and supported many valuable programs such as teen driver safety events, Rx drug turn-ins and youth town halls on relevant topics that matter to teens. This year, the youth town hall included a discussion about the use of social media and how to cope without cellphones during the school day. The Happy Valley Youth Council also initiated the annual Oregon Youth Summit, a meeting of local youth councils from around the state to exchange ideas and work together on important issues.

Last month marked a bittersweet moment as we said farewell to two graduating seniors and welcomed three new members.

Please join us in thanking the following seniors for their dedication to our community while serving on the Youth Council:

- Grace Bach
- Paige Hunt

At the same time, please join us in congratulating the following individuals for being selected by their peers to serve on the Youth Council for the next several years:

- Juliana Lee
- Jessica Rask
- Hawi Mekonnen

Thank you to the families of these outstanding individuals for raising kids with kindness, leadership and a sense of service to the community.

To learn more information about the Youth Council, visit www.hv.city/youth-council.

We’ve got a brand-new limited edition tee at the Happy Valley Store — and it’s a winner (literally)! Local resident Gareth Hood designed this year’s shirt as part of our T-Shirt Design Contest, and now it’s your chance to wear it with pride.

Gareth Hood is a local graphic designer and muralist with a background in both art and technology. He often helps others bring their ideas to life and saw this as a chance to show what he could do with his own vision. As a Happy Valley resident, Gareth entered to contribute something lasting to the neighborhood and to share his passion for design in a way the community can enjoy every day.

Available in tan or forest green, these shirts won’t last long — so swing by City Hall (M–F, 8 a.m.–5 p.m.) and grab yours for just $15.

MAYOR’S MESSAGE

Come enjoy summer events

One of my favorite things about living in Happy Valley is relaxing and enjoying conversations at our numerous community events throughout the summer. Whether it’s a concert in the park or a large festival, there is something for everyone!

This week, we’re kicking things off with the annual 4th of July Family Festival. Join us for a parade, food, music and fireworks. This is a great way to celebrate the holiday.

If you love music, or just like to enjoy catching up with neighbors and friends on a summer evening, then we have two weekly concert series for you. Concerts in the Valley begin July 10 at Happy Valley Park and continue each Thursday night. This year, the band lineup consists of tribute bands each week. In addition, there are a variety of fun activities planned to keep you and the kids entertained.

Happy Valley Library’s Concerts in the Park series will also return on Friday nights starting July 25. These concerts take place on the lawn directly across from the main library building and are a great way to unwind after a long week. If you like to read, don’t forget to visit the library and sign up for the annual Summer Reading Program.

Between summer concerts, 4th of July, National Night Out and more, summer 2025 is set to be one to enjoy with friends and family. (COURTESY PHOTO: CITY OF HAPPY VALLEY)

Another community favorite is National Night Out, which takes place Aug. 5. Musical entertainment and educational safety booths will be set up at Happy Valley Park to help celebrate our first responders and Happy Valley Police. Come and get to know the deputies that patrol our community and make connections with members of the Public Safety Team that are committed to keeping us safe.

Whether you attend a summer community event, plan a neighborhood Block Party, rent a park picnic shelter or visit the local farmers market, I hope you enjoy Happy Valley in the weeks to come.

For more information on summer events, be sure to visit www.happyvalleyor.gov.

Publisher’s Note: Have an idea for a story? We are always on the search for new people, places, and things to write about. If you have an idea for an uplifting story that would benefit the community, then we want to hear from you!

To submit your idea, send an email to happyvalleynews@yourregonnews.com and include as many details as possible, so our publication team can review your story idea. The best stories highlight the spirit and values of the Happy Valley community and showcase meaningful happenings in the lives of residents and local businesses. We invite you to include anecdotes in your story proposal that are funny, astonishing, heartwarming, and inspiring. If we think your story idea is a good fit, our community writer will get in contact with you to discuss the possibility of it being featured in an upcoming issue.

TRACK trails at Happy Valley Park – NOW OPEN

On a beautiful day at Happy Valley Park, we officially celebrated the opening of the new TRACK Trails with a community ribbon cutting! This exciting addition is designed to inspire kids and families to get outside, explore nature and enjoy the outdoors together.

The event brought together local families, city staff and community partners to mark the occasion. Kids grabbed trail guides and set off to explore while parents and visitors learned about the unique features of the TRACK Trails program. The self-guided adventure stations along the trail make it easy for young explorers to engage with nature at their own pace.

Special thanks to Oregon Parks Forever and Kids in Parks for their generous support in bringing this project to life. Their partnership made it possible to create a trail that encourages young adventurers to learn about nature in fun and meaningful ways.

If you haven’t yet, stop by Happy Valley Park and check out the new TRACK Trails. We’ll see you on the trail!

Meet your Traffic and Public Safety Committee

City of Happy Valley

The City’s Traffic and Public Safety Committee is tasked with advising the City Council on a variety of safety priorities and related programs. To do this, the group works closely with City staff, community services officers, Clackamas Fire District # 1 and the Happy Valley Police to help shape service delivery and better understand resident needs. Their efforts often help reduce traffic accidents, promote pedestrian safety and foster a sense of security among residents and local businesses.

Traffic and Public Safety Committee meetings are open to the public and residents are especially encouraged to attend when guest speakers and other safety experts are slated to present information. From explanations about local traffic engineering studies to general safety topics affecting residents, these opportunities are educational, eye-opening and often excellent ways to join the City’s collective efforts in keeping Happy Valley a safe place to live, work and play. These consistent updates and presentations ultimately allow the committee to convey the urgency and importance of various traffic and safety initiatives when it comes to seeking the Council’s support and funding.

The Committee has most recently worked on several pedestrian and motorist safety improvements throughout the City, as well as partnered with the school district to address relevant traffic concerns. The Committee is also vital to discussions related to Happy Valley’s Public Safety Levy, which is voted on by residents every five years. Their work has been instrumental in ensuring the City’s contract with the Clackamas County Sheriff’s Office remains not only fiscally responsible, but up to par when it comes to the needs of residents.

Fireworks Task Force prepares for the holiday

Prioritizing public safety, the City enforces a $1,000 fine for using illegal fireworks

City of Happy Valley

In the days leading up to the Fourth of July holiday, as well as several days after, a dedicated task force made up of Happy

Valley deputies and community service officers increases patrols aimed at curbing illegal fireworks use.

Fireworks can be fun, but they can also cause harm to people and property if they are not handled carefully. Wildfires, which have been a major point of concern in the Pacific Northwest these past few years, can easily be started with one spark or smoldering shell. Fireworks are also disruptive because of their noise, inducing stress for people, pets and natural wildlife. This is further intensified for those struggling with mental health and physical conditions that cause sensitivity to sound.

Happy Valley adopted its zero-tolerance policy for illegal fireworks over a decade ago. A firm $1,000 citation will be issued on the spot if someone

Play by the rules

Help keep City parks safe for everyone this summer

City parks and trails are wonderful places to enjoy the warm weather and stay active. Community service officers patrol these areas to enforce park rules, but cooperation from visitors is essential in keeping them at their best. While we are tasked with ensuring compliance, we also aim to work collaboratively with parkgoers and are available to answer any questions about park rules during our patrols.

Here are some great tips to keep in mind to help ensure everyone's safety:

■ Be nice to the neighbors: Most parks are surrounded by neighborhoods. Please respect residents by observing noise levels and parking etiquette when you visit.

■ Watch the time: Parks are closed from dusk to dawn unless part of a City-permitted event. If it is dark out and the gates are closed, individuals remaining in the park may be issued a citation.

■ Keep it clean: During the summer there are park employees on duty seven days a week, emptying garbage cans and restocking restrooms. Visitors are expected to properly dispose of their personal garbage or take it with them when they leave. If the restrooms or another facility in the park need attention, please call 503-783-3800.

■ Mind your animals: All animal waste must be placed in a bag or container and disposed of properly. For your convenience, there are bag dispensers for animal waste at most parks and we encourage you to utilize them. Don't forget that all dogs in City-managed parks must be leashed unless they are in one of the designated dog park enclosures. Please note that Mt. Scott Nature Park and Scouters Mountain Nature Park are owned by Metro and dogs are NOT permitted in these spaces.

■ No smoking, please: Tobacco and smoking are prohibited on all park properties. This includes cigarettes, chewing tobacco or any inhalant delivery system such as e-cigarettes and vaping devices.

■ Leave the adult beverages at home: Alcohol possession and consumption is prohibited at City parks, unless permitted at a City-sponsored event and distributed by an OLCC approved vendor.

■ Slow down: The speed limit through the park is 10 mph. All motor vehicles must be kept off paths, grass and trails. This includes ATVs, motor bikes, and other recreational vehicles.

■ Stay above ground: To protect the park's irrigation system and prevent uneven terrain, please refrain from digging and do not pound stakes and posts into the ground.

■ Protect your noggin: Helmets must be worn at the skatepark at all times, regardless of age. This is City law.

■ Remind youth of risks: Educate children and teens on park safety and make sure little ones are supervised at all times.

Keep in mind that while we as Community Service Officers prioritize education and are happy to help clarify park rules you may have questions about, compliance is essential to avoid formal citations or exclusion from the park. Please help us work together to ensure all visitors can enjoy Happy Valley's parks this summer, safely and respectfully.

Helmets are a must at the Happy Valley Park skatepark.

Vacation checks help keep your home secure

City of Happy Valley

Headed on an extended vacation and worried about the safety of your home?

To help ease those worries, you may request a vacation check at your residence by submitting a Residential Vacation Check Form online.

If approved, Happy Valley's community service officers will patrol, when available, the perimeter of your residence to investigate if there have been any signs of a crime or entry.

They will check to ensure doors and windows are closed and locked, and that there are no visible signs of access.

In the event of an emergency or issue at the home, you (or a local emergency contact as indicated on the form) would be contacted regarding the nature of the issue. Head to www.hv.city/vacation-checks

Pro tips before heading out on any extended vacation

1. Temporarily suspend your mail, paper and any automatic deliveries.
2. Let a trusted neighbor know where you will be, how long you'll be gone and how to contact you in case of an emergency.
3. Leave a light on and program a radio or television on a timer to make it look like someone is home.
4. Lock your doors and windows.
5. Ask a neighbor to put away any trash receptacles, so they aren't left at the curb.

Dumpster Day helps residents clear the way for summer!

City of Happy Valley

Happy Valley residents kicked off the summer season on June 14 with the return of Dumpster Day, a much-anticipated event hosted by Happy Valley Parks and Recreation.

This annual offering provides an easy and free way for residents to recycle, donate and dispose of unwanted items — all while keeping usable materials out of the landfill. With over 625 vehicles coming through the event, the community turned out in full force to make the most of this opportunity to clean house.

Held at Happy Valley Park, the event featured multiple drop-off stations where participants could recycle used tires, securely shred sensitive documents, donate reusable goods and safely dispose of items like old batteries and specialty light bulbs.

This year, the event also welcomed a new community partner: Reborn Bikes, a local nonprofit that repairs used bicycles and gives them a second life by donating them back to individuals in need. Thanks to donations from residents, 60

HAPPY VALLEY TURNS 60 with rockin’ Summer Concert Series

City of Happy Valley

The City of Happy Valley is turning 60 — and what better way to celebrate than with music all summer long!

This year’s Summer Concerts in the Valley series is bringing the party with an all-tribute band lineup, honoring musical legends across genres. From classic country sounds of Alabama to high-energy rock hits from AC/DC tribute band Shoot to Thrill, the stage is set for a season of unforgettable performances.

Happening every Thursday evening from July 10 to Aug. 21, the Happy Valley Parks and Recreation Department invites residents and visitors to enjoy this free, family-friendly musical series. The lineup spans country, 70’s pop, classic country, and rock, so there’s something for every music lover.

Concerts take place outdoors, so pack a blanket or lawn chair and settle in. A variety of food and drink options will be available for purchase, including beer and wine for guests 21 and over. Families will want to stop by the Happy Zone, a fun-filled area where kids and teens can craft, play games and stay entertained. Fan favorite DJ Doc Rock will return as the emcee, keeping the vibes alive between sets.

Stay connected and in-the-know by following the City and Happy Valley Parks and Recreation on Facebook, where updates and surprises will be shared as the summer heats up. Let’s make this milestone year one to remember — see you in the Valley!

Concerts start at 6:30 p.m. For more details, go to hv.city/summer-concerts.

CONCERTS IN THE VALLEY 2025 SCHEDULE

July 10

BAND AFTER MIDNIGHT (Abba Tribute)

An all-star ensemble featuring members of NW’s most celebrated tributes including Taken by the Sky (Fleetwood Mac), Glass of Hearts (Blondie) and Life During Wartime (Talking Heads). They capture the quintessential look & sound of ABBA, transporting audiences back to the golden era of pop. They recreate the harmonies, costumes, and energy that made ABBA a worldwide phenomenon, enchanting fans across generations.

July 17

BLACK-WINGED BIRDS (Counting Crows Tribute)

Born in Wyoming but raised in Oregon, band frontman Tyler Stenson and Counting Crows tribute band Black-Winged Birds pay homage to this popular American rock group.

July 24

ROLL ON (Alabama Tribute)

Roll On brings the energetic combination of traditional country, with a little rock and roll, that exemplifies the Alabama sound. Experienced musicians and entertainers having performed in several different genres of music and show bands. Rock, funk, blues, folk and of course country music. With this combined musical and entertainment experience, Roll On provides a spot-on live Alabama concert experience for old and new fans of the band’s numerous hit songs.

July 31

PETTY FEVER (Tom Petty Tribute Band)

An award-winning, full-production tribute to the Rock Hall of Fame musician that features captivating guitarist/vocalist (and Hollywood FAME Award Winner) Frank Murray. Experience a supremely authentic Tom Petty & The Heartbreakers concert experience ... catch Petty Fever live!

August 14

SHOOT TO THRILL (AC/DC Tribute)

This AC/DC band is Portland’s amazing tribute to the Australian legends, bringing the anthemic riffs, shouts and antics to the stage with pure passion. Hail hail to the good times, cause rock has got the right of way when Shoot To Thrill is on stage.

August 21

STONE IN LOVE (Journey Tribute)

This tribute performs faithful renditions of classic hits from one of the most beloved rock groups of all time. They deliver a high-energy performance that showcases all the hallmarks of the Journey sound – soaring lead vocals, lush four-part harmonies, signature guitar licks, fat keyboards, and driving rhythms – on legendary hits known the world over. This is Stone in Love’s final summer of performances. You won’t want to miss this!

WE LOVE OUR CONCERT SPONSORS!

Throughout July and August, Happy Valley Parks and Recreation will be showcasing the generous sponsors who have helped make our 2025 summer concert series possible. Check out the local businesses highlighted this month.

Sun Glow Home Services

Sun Glow has been giving back to our community while keeping families and businesses comfortable since 1972. Making dreams reality

Mane Bridal captures your natural look for the big day

By JAMES KENNETH PRESLEY
For Happy Valley News

For many, a wedding represents the most important day of one's life. Choosing to spend your entire life with a significant other, all while celebrating with family and friends, is an experience that most people dream about since childhood.

So, with all this mounting pressure to make things perfect, just how difficult is it to pull off your ideal wedding day aesthetic in terms of make-up and hair? Well, if you live in Happy Valley then perhaps not that difficult at all!

Mane Bridal, which very recently opened up its own brick and mortar salon off 162nd behind the Valley Public House, specializes in capturing a bride's natural beauty while utilizing their skills to enhance what glow already exists.

To learn more, we spoke with Mane Bridal owner Andrea Smith.

"We've been running bridal hair and makeup for five seasons now," says Smith. "Right out of COVID, I was invited to a masked wedding shoot where I was a recent grad out of beauty school. It was so much fun and I loved it!"

Smith notes that, for her first season, her goal was to do a total of ten brides. However, lucky for Smith, that number quickly jumped to 30 — an impressive feat for a newcomer to the game of wedding glam.

"My technique is to start really light during our trial sessions and then build up from there, especially when considering wedding day photos where it will show the best."

— Andrea Smith,
Owner of Mane Bridal

"I really prefer doing natural looking makeup that doesn't change the way somebody looks which really catapulted everything for me," says Smith. "I feel like a lot of makeup artists go in heavy handed on a bride who never really wears makeup, which can scare off a bride. My technique is to start really light during our trial sessions and then build up from there, especially when considering wedding day photos where it will show the best."

Speaking of trends, one topic that came up was the influence of AI-generated photos and the unrealistic aesthetics they present when certain brides ask for a specific look.

"My clients bring AI photos all the time and the trick is you have to dive into what they like about them, investigating what they actually want versus what they brought in as inspiration," says Smith. "AI-generated glam often never matches up with what they actually want once we have a conversation and trial session."

We then moved off the state of the industry to learn more about the Mane Bridal business in general — specifically how much planning should go into booking your glam squad.

"A lot of professionals book out a year in advance," says Smith. "I usually open my bookings up in November and work through the fall season to figure out dates, schedule trials, etc. I recommend actually doing the trial three months before the wedding, that way brides know what their dress looks like and what their decoration aesthetic is. I always say 'book early' but give it some time before trialing your hair and makeup."

Smith notes how Mane Bridal averages around 80 inquiries a year, utilizing her team of hair and makeup artists with different specializations to make brides both near and far feel beautiful, bold and powerful on their special day.

"We recently had one wedding with 19 guests to do glam for," says Smith. "We loaded up the whole team that day and went through the whole family. We all just sort of crashed at the end but it was very much worth it."

Mane Bridal Salon off 162nd does offer space for bridal parties to get ready before needing to head off to the venue.

Happy Valley welcomes three new businesses

City of Happy Valley

Its been an exciting time in Happy Valley as the community officially welcomed three new businesses with ribbon-cutting celebrations. Mayor Tom Ellis, members of the City Council and City staff joined the Happy Valley Business Alliance at each event in display of the city's commitment to supporting local entrepreneurship.

The first celebration kicked off at Sunnysides and The Last Sip, an innovative indoor food cart pod that combines a cozy indoor dining experience with a full-service bar. Located at 15640 SE Happy Valley Town Center Dr. this unique spot is quickly becoming a go-to for residents looking to gather, eat and sip in comfort. The food cart lineup includes Kracked Crab (fresh seafood), Dumpling Boys (savory dumplings), Rolls and Rice (sushi and Asian fusion) and KungFu Tea (bubble teas and refreshing beverages). With such a wide variety of flavors under one roof, there's something to satisfy every craving.

Next up was HomePlace Furniture & Design, a business focused on helping families refresh their living spaces with high-quality, one-of-a-kind pieces. With a mission rooted in sustainability and community, HomePlace works with local artisans and uses responsibly sourced materials to deliver both comfort and style. Their approachable team is passionate about making the design process easy and stress-free, no matter the style or budget. They are located at 19995 SE HWY 212 in Damascus.

Rounding out the month was Mane Bridal, a woman-owned salon led by Andrea Smith. Located in the Cristilla Commons complex at 12930 SE 162nd Ave, Suite 109, Mane Bridal specializes in natural, soft glam bridal hair and makeup services. Andrea and her talented team offer customized wedding packages for bridal parties of all sizes and travel throughout Oregon and the Pacific Northwest. Beyond weddings, the salon also provides a full range of beauty services including coloring, extensions, scalp treatments, braiding and event makeup.

The City of Happy Valley extends its heartfelt congratulations to these new businesses and thanks the Happy Valley Business Alliance, Mayor Ellis and the City Council for their continued support in fostering a thriving and welcoming business community.

You Can Help Prevent Water Pollution!

Keeping your lawn free of weeds involves many choices—some are hazardous to our families, pets, and waterways.

Safest
Annually aerate, de-thatch and over-seed bare spots in spring. This will keep the lawn dense and healthy, which keeps out weeds. Use a long-handled weed removal tool for easy weed removal. Fertilize only in fall with a slow release fertilizer, if at all.

Next Best
If you choose a weed or insect control product, look for the OMRI label which helps identify less hazardous chemicals. Always read and follow the label, as even natural/organic products can be harmful. Only apply products when multiple dry days are forecast. Spot spray only the individual weeds you really can't live with!

Important Measures You Can Take
Do not apply pesticides, herbicides or fertilizers under windy conditions, or when rain, snow or hail is predicted within the next 48 hours.

Consider hiring an ECOBIZ certified landscaper!

Fly fishing course update: The first course

Happy Valley's new fly fishing course reeling in interest

By EMMA DAVIS
Staff reporter

Happy Valley's new fly fishing course made a splash with its first class at the end of May, drawing a group of eager beginners ready to learn the ins and outs of the sport. Since then, the course has been gaining momentum as more community members discover the joy of fly fishing.

Gabe Golobay, one of the two course instructors, has been thrilled with how the class has gone so far with positive responses all around. "The class has been great and the first group was awesome," Gabe shared. "They were all very open to learning and excited to get into the sport which makes it even more enjoyable for us as teachers to have people looking forward to learning."

Both Gabe and his co-instructor Chloe

Courtney bring a wealth of knowledge, experience and passion for fly fishing. Their goal is to create a welcoming and fun environment where participants can develop their skills, whether casting on a local stream or just starting out with the basics, and so far they're making that a reality.

"Myself and Chloe are looking forward to the rest of these upcoming classes and getting more people into the sport that we love!" Gabe added.

For those who missed the initial sessions, there's still time to join in. Classes will continue through the end of July and into August, with spots still available for new participants. Whether you're curious about fly fishing or eager to refine your technique, the course offers a chance to learn from passionate local instructors and connect with others who share the same interest.

With the warm months ahead, it's the perfect time to get outside, enjoy the beautiful waterways around Happy Valley and try your hand at this rewarding outdoor sport.

Paws in the Park brings tail-wagging fun

City of Happy Valley

Leashes in hand and pups in tow, families flocked to Happy Valley Park on Saturday, May 31, as the community gathered for this year's Paws in the Park event. Hosted by Happy Valley Parks and Recreation, the free celebration welcomed hundreds of dog lovers and their furry companions for a joyful day packed with pup-approved fun.

From high-energy agility demonstrations and pup parades to trick challenges and a fan-favorite costume contest, there was no shortage of four-legged entertainment. Attendees browsed vendor booths featuring local pet services and products, met adoptable pets from local rescues and connected with organizations offering everything from grooming to dog training tips.

A highlight of the day was the debut of Doggy Dream Homes — an inspiring display of handcrafted doghouses donated by local builders and businesses including PARR Lumber, Home Depot, Westlake Development Group and Holt Homes. The doghouses

Students making wishes come true

New student-led club has impact at Adrienne C. Nelson

By EMMA DAVIS
Staff Reporter

At Adrienne C. Nelson High School, a group of students has turned inspiration into action through the creation of a brand-new Make-A-Wish Club — an initiative built from scratch that’s already making a meaningful impact.

Launched this spring by Kibri Zekarias, Brook Brown and Addi Schwanz, the club has already made a powerful impact in just a few months. From raising nearly $3,000 through community fundraisers and local business sponsorships to hosting events featuring local Wish Kids themselves, the club and its members are determined to bring hope and joy to children one wish at a time. With a growing membership and ambitious plans for next year, they’re just getting started.

The idea for the club started when the three approached Principal Greg Harris about starting a new service organization. After exploring a few possibilities, they came across the idea of forming a Make-A-Wish Club and were surprised to learn how many other schools had done the same.

Make-A-Wish clubs give students an opportunity to support the Make-A-Wish Foundation by getting involved in fundraising and community service. Through regular meetings, events, and fundraisers, these clubs work to raise both money and awareness to help grant wishes for children with critical illnesses.

“We started it even though it was later in the year. We just were kinda really eager,” Zekarias said. “And with Mr. Harris’ help and guidance, it made it very possible and doable.”

Along with the three founders, the club established a full executive board to help lead their efforts. The leadership team includes Zekarias and Brown as co-presidents, Schwanz as vice president, Maizie Kendall as secretary, Sage Borschel as treasurer, Beyti Mamo as event coordinator and Jason Hunt overseeing social media and media outreach.

“I have done a lot of community service clubs in this school, and I joined Make-A-Wish because I really liked that they had a specific goal and impact,” Kendall said. “I know that I’m genuinely helping someone, especially someone who’s vulnerable and a kid who’s my age or younger. I felt like that impact was so important.”

“I’ve always had a really good connection with kids specifically, and that’s definitely what I want as a career, even in the medical field,” Schwanz said. “I feel like this is such a good opportunity for me to kind of see it and get closer.”

Recruitment started with simple outreach during lunch periods, posters around campus and participation in the school’s club showcase for incoming eighth graders.

“We started going to track meets and just kind of having a table out there, asking for donations and telling everyone what the club is about, what Make-A-Wish is,” Schwanz said.

By the end of the school year, the club had grown to approximately 50 members — an impressive feat for a brand-new group in its first few months. “We have around 50 members now, give or take,” Kendall said. “Which — doing that in just a couple months — is pretty impressive.”

So far the students have raised close to $3,000 through a combination of online donations, community events and corporate sponsorships. Their biggest fundraising night came at a track meet in April, where they raised nearly $1,000 in a single evening. These efforts have set a strong foundation toward their goal of raising $10,000 annually to grant wishes for children facing critical illnesses.

“It costs on average $10,000 to grant a wish to a kid and wishes range in a lot of different things, from trips to experiences,” Harris said. It’s no easy feat to raise that kind of money, but the club has shown they have the passion and support to make it happen.

In April, which is nationally recognized as Make-A-Wish Month, the club hit the ground running with several community events. It hosted donation tables at a track meet and a special Make-A-Wish Day at a Nelson baseball game, where a local Wish Kid, Roslyn, threw out the first pitch.

“Her wish was going to Disneyland and meeting all the Disney villains. And so that was pretty cool,” Harris said.

The event raised awareness and brought the community together in support of the cause. Corporate sponsors like Dave’s Hot Chicken, Carla Properties and Sunnyside Dentistry have also contributed financially, helping cover club expenses. “They (Dave’s Hot Chicken) paid to be on the back of these shirts and then they sponsored us for the rest of the year in order to print the shirts and get our club up and running,” Brown said.

Looking ahead, the club plans to expand its efforts by potentially setting up booths at community events over the summer, growing its membership and developing partnerships with more local businesses. With a full year ahead of them for planning and outreach, the students are confident they’ll not only hit their $10,000 goal but surpass it by the end of the 2025-26 school year.

“I think $10,000 will be far more achievable next year when we have the whole year and the summer as well,” Kendall said.

Brown added: “We got $3,000 in March to June. And as a new club too, our impact will be much larger next year.”

But beyond raising money, members say the club has created something even more meaningful: a sense of connection and purpose within their school and community. Many students were drawn to the club because of its specific mission and the opportunity to make a personal impact on the lives of sick children.

“Our main goal is just to make a big impact on the kids’ lives,” said Brown. “We genuinely just want to do good for the community and give people a reason to give back.”

The club has also provided valuable leadership opportunities and helped build friendships between students from different grade levels. Through their growing social media presence, the group has connected with other schools and organizations in the area, helping spread the Make-A-Wish mission even further.

“Unlike other clubs where there can be cliques, everyone here is so communicative and respectful,” said Borschel, the club treasurer. “It’s such a kind, open community, and that’s really rare.”

In just a short time, the Make-A-Wish Club at Adrienne C. Nelson High School has proven that meaningful change can start small and grow quickly with enough heart and teamwork.

“I don’t advise clubs. I don’t have time,” Harris said. “But I’m advising this club because I care a lot about this club. And these three convinced me to do it, which is pretty exciting. This club has already done some pretty tremendous work in the past three months. And I’m really excited.”

Bringing quick and quality care to Happy Valley

Neighborhood health care option offers onsite lab, pharmacy

By EMMA DAVIS
Staff Reporter

Happy Valley gained a new health care option this summer with the opening of a ZoomCare clinic on June 2. Located at 17155 SE Sunnyside Road, Suite #160, in the Happy Valley Crossroads Shopping Center, this clinic is designed to make health care fast, convenient and local.

ZoomCare has been serving communities since 2006 with neighborhood clinics that cover everything from treating common illnesses and injuries to offering preventive care. This Happy Valley location features five exam rooms, on-site lab testing and an in-house pharmacy, so patients can get tests done and leave with medications in hand, all in one visit. “It’s designed where patients can be in and out within 15 minutes,” ZoomCare CEO Jeff Fee said.

ZoomCare focuses on compassionate, quality care with minimal wait times. Opening this clinic in Happy Valley fits right into that goal — bringing health care closer to home and making it easier for locals to get the care they need.

“We’re really excited to be part of the Happy Valley community,” Fee said. “Our hope is to show residents how easy health care can be.”

of health needs. Whether it’s a minor injury, a sudden illness or time for preventive screenings and vaccines, ZoomCare aims to be a one-stop spot for care that respects your time and keeps things simple.

“The Happy Valley location is a same-day clinic that provides primary care for illness and injuries,” Fee said. “And it’s primarily a pre-scheduled model to keep the waiting rooms safe, so there aren’t any waiting rooms.”

To celebrate the new clinic, ZoomCare hosted an open house on June 13. The event allowed the community to tour the space, meet the providers and staff, enjoy specialty coffee and Italian sodas, and leave with a goodie bag of ZoomCare swag. It was a great chance for locals to get familiar with what ZoomCare offers and meet the team in person.

One of the big perks of ZoomCare is its use of a Medicare-certified electronic health records system that helps coordinate care with other doctors and health systems. They accept Medicare and Medicare Advantage plans at all their Oregon and Washington locations, making it easier for many people to get the care they need.

With more than 47 clinics across the region, ZoomCare keeps expanding its footprint with convenient hours — including evenings and weekends — perfect for busy schedules.

For Happy Valley residents, this new ZoomCare clinic offers a fresh option for same-day, reliable care that fits into life without the usual hassle. Book online for an appointment online or in the ZoomCare app with a provider and get that medical help you need.

Building friendships, inclusion

National nonprofit expands reach in Happy Valley schools

By EMMA DAVIS
Staff Reporter

A national nonprofit dedicated to fostering friendships and ending social isolation for individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD) is building a presence in Happy Valley. Best Buddies Oregon, which launched its first local chapter at Clackamas High School during the 2024-2025 school year, is now looking to expand to other schools throughout the North Clackamas School District.

“I like to say that we are in the friendship business,” said Hannah Mack, lead program manager for Best Buddies of Oregon. “We want to encourage people to be friends with everyone in their community, and we provide a program that makes it easier for people to approach one another.”

The organization aims to platform individuals with disabilities by giving them opportunities to share their stories both in schools and in the larger community. Through leadership roles, public speaking and advocacy, students gain skills and experiences they might not otherwise have access to in traditional school environments.

“It never fails to astound me — the challenges so many of our participants have overcome and their willingness to keep moving forward,” said Leanne Goolsby Thompson, area director for Best Buddies Oregon. “I don’t think it’s an overstatement to say the programming we offer is life-changing, not just for individuals with IDD, but for people without disabilities as well.”

The idea to bring Best Buddies to Clackamas High School came directly from students themselves. Mack said she was approached by a student who explained they were already part of a similar club and wanted to officially turn it into a Best Buddies chapter.

“I wasn’t actively trying to start programming in Happy Valley,” Mack said. “(The school) was already doing a club that was kind of similar to, but they wanted to turn that club into Best Buddies.”

Once a school shows interest, starting a chapter is a simple process. Each chapter needs a student president and a buddy director — a student with an IDD who helps lead the group. From there, Best Buddies of Oregon provides a welcome kit filled with supplies, stickers, lanyards and educational materials about disability awareness and inclusion.

Programming is flexible, allowing each chapter to create events and activities that fit their school culture. “Do they want to have a pizza party? A carnival? A movie night? Participate in a talent show?” Thompson said. “Each chapter gets to decide how they want to bring people together.”

When students are matched as buddies, the expectation is for regular, meaningful interaction. “Once you have a buddy match, the expectation would be that you and your buddy are connecting on a weekly basis,” Goolsby Thompson said. “That might look like having lunch together, attending a basketball game or even just a quick chat in the hallway between classes.”

Following the success of the Clackamas chapter, Mack and Thompson hope to expand the program throughout the district. “(Clackamas’s experience with the program) has been great,” Mack said. “I’m really excited for them to be kind of that mentor chapter for the future.” Mack is currently in talks with administrators at Rock Creek Middle School, and Thompson hopes to see a chapter open at Sunnyside Elementary in the near future.

“We’re trying to raise awareness right now,” Mack said.

“We could have some really phenomenal school chapters and that would create a great culture of inclusivity and give our kids an opportunity to really shine and show us what they are capable of,” Goolsby-Thompson said. “And I think that within the district, getting more chapters opened is nothing but a good thing.”

“I truly believe that by having a chapter in your school, you’re planting seeds that will impact countless people as they grow and spread inclusion,” Mack said.

Every year, Best Buddies holds a Friendship Walk where the organization raises money and awareness for IDD. (COURTESY PHOTOS: HANNAH MACK)

“It goes back to what it means to be a human being. Best Buddies is about creating a new culture, a new way of building community within schools so students can learn these tools of inclusion in real life and take them with them into the workforce, their families and wherever they go.”

Both Mack and Goolsby-Thompson agree the benefits of strong social connections extend well beyond friendship. “Having those connections is part of the educational process and benefits kids’ ability to learn better,” Mack said. “The goal of school is to become a well-rounded individual and learn more than just reading and writing — it’s learning how to be a kind person, a leader, how to handle conflict and how to be part of a community.”

“I think it is an important component that kids are learning how to be people through this,” Mack said. “You’re learning how to do all of these things that are going to be applicable for your whole life. Forming social connections. Being a good friend. Having grace. Connecting with people only serves to benefit you and your community for the entirety of your life, and so having a Best Buddies chapter in your school helps facilitate those opportunities and those skills.”

“These kids are constantly showing they are gaining new skills and aware of their role within their communities, of how important these friendships that they’re forming are,” she added. “I think it really gives a lot of hope.”

Public Works Day recap: Big rigs, dirt cups and community fun!

City of Happy Valley

The City of Happy Valley Parks & Recreation Department recently hosted a lively Public Works Day event, giving families a behind-the-scenes look at the team that keeps our city running smoothly.

Guests enjoyed delicious dirt cups, fun temporary tattoos and mini safety vests — just like the ones our Public Works crew wears on the job. Kids stayed busy with hands-on games like “Hammer Time,” “Pipeline” and digging in a sand pit, complete with a playful “car wash” station nearby.

A major highlight was the opportunity to explore real Public Works vehicles up close. From big rigs and dump trucks to street sweepers, kids got to climb aboard and imagine life in the driver’s seat.

Smiling faces peeked from behind steering wheels as future builders and city workers dreamed big.

Public Works Week is a time to recognize the vital services that keep our communities safe, clean and functioning — from street maintenance and water systems to parks and public spaces.

This event was a fun and meaningful way for families to connect with the crew members who care for these essential services every day.

A huge thank you to our Public Works team for keeping Happy Valley safe, clean and thriving — rain or shine!

Angela Morando's We Are Cake making name for itself in HV

By JAMES KENENTH PRESLEY
for Carpenter Media Group

Cake plays a pivotal role in life's most precious moments. From a child blowing out their first candle to a newly-married couple shoving its sweet and spongy torso into each other's mouths, cake is simply there for us when we need it the most. Perhaps no place understands this concept better than We Are Cake, a storied business with an owner who's as sweet as the goods she sells.

To uncover what's beyond the frosting, we spoke with owner Angela Morando.

"I first started doing cake decorating, not baking," says Morando. "I would start getting plain cakes from stores like Costco and would decorate them myself." Morando, who was diagnosed with Cushing's disease in 2009, notes how it was during her time recovering from surgery when she determined that what was once a passion could potentially become her new career.

We Are Cake, which opened its new brick and mortar behind Gloria's Pub in 2022, notably utilizes the power of word-of-mouth as their main advertising tactic, already having over a decade's long reputation amongst the community.

"It took a year to get everything done from construction to permitting," says Morando. "Plus we're in a historical building so my husband and I had to put in a ton of hours. That being said, it's been a dream come true, as we have a working kitchen, light retail, daily treats, etc."

Equally, We Are Cake does have another physical presence, as they finally committed to showing their amazing skills at the Happy Valley Saturday Market.

"The heat sort of turned me off at first, but it's a great way to meet people and to let them know we're right across the street," says Morando.

Now, in terms of their goods, Morando talked about some of today's trends as it pertains to cake.

"I would definitely say that we are going back to vintage cakes and simplicity," says Morando. "However, we do get some fun challenges! We had one Kaiser employee who requested an ultrasound cake. We delivered it to the hospital and everybody loved it."

For those looking into getting a cake from We Are Cake, Morando suggests filling out a detailed quote request form on their site, wearecake.com, giving plenty of notice as their schedule does book up quickly.

"This wedding season we're doing about 25 cakes," says Morando. "It's somebody's most important day so we take our time to not mess anything up. We take a whole day just to focus on one wedding cake."

Decorating classes are also offered at We Are Cake; they are expected to ramp back up this fall after the busy summer and wedding season. "One party we've done is a 'Cookies for Santa' party," says Morando. "Cupcakes and cookies typically take a couple of hours and they involve step-by-step instructions. The best part is you get to take all of your goodies home."

Lastly, Morando recommends people to come visit in person and check out their retail and sweet goods.

"We offer cards, candles and other fun gift ideas," says Morando. "So many good party favors and sweets to go with them. A client favorite are our chocolate covered Oreos and 'cakesicles,' which is our version of cake pops but only better."

We Are Cake owner Angela Morando - The G.O.A.T. of sweets.

Flamingo cakes are among the many options at We Are Cake.

"It's been a dream come true, as we have a working kitchen, light retail, daily treats, etc."

Summer reading is happening now

The Happy Valley Library invites all ages (babies, kids, teens and adults!) to participate in the Summer Reading Program. Come into the library to pick up a reading log to start tracking your reading.

Kids and teens read for at least 20 minutes a day on 24 separate days. Audiobooks count! And so does being read or sung to if you're 5 or younger.

Turn in your reading record in August for a free book.

The popular Book BINGO is returning for adults! Read different types of books to get a BINGO for a chance to win prizes. Sign up to get a BINGO card on your next visit to the library. Book BINGO will also be available in Spanish.

WEEK 3:

Marine Engineering: Making Waves June 30 - July 3, 9 a.m.-noon • Monday - Thursday

Ages 7-12 • Half Day Tuition: $225, Full Day Tuition: $355

Students use the Engineering Design Process to design, create, test, and refine several types of marine based devices and vehicles. Students construct working prototypes that teach and reinforce the concepts of above water transportation, underwater exploration, and harnessing the power of water. They gain exposure to careers in naval, ocean, and marine engineering as well as naval architecture.

Lego Spike: Rescue Bots

June 30 - July 3, 12:30 p.m.-3:30 p.m. Monday - Thursday • Ages 7-12

Half Day Tuition: $225, Full Day Tuition: $355

Welcome to the Rescue Bot Operations Center, a place where robots have fun, compete, and go on exciting adventures. In this program, students will use the EFK Engineering Design Process to take on a variety of rescue missions using the LEGO® Spike Prime robotics kit. Students will learn to build robots and use block coding to design a route through earthquake rubble, rescue a snowmobile from an avalanche, search a trail for lost hikers, and much more.

WEEK 4:

Jr. Aerospace Engineering: Taking to the Skies

July 7 - July 11, 9 a.m.-noon • Monday - Friday • Ages 4-7

Half Day Tuition: $279, Full Day Tuition: $439

The Junior Aerospace Engineering classes introduce our youngest engineers to fundamental concepts of aircraft and spacecraft design. Through open and focused exploration, students explore and construct airplanes, rockets, helicopters, and more.

Summertime Splash

July 7 - July 11, 12:30 p.m.-3:30 p.m. • Monday - Friday • Ages 4-7

Half Day Tuition: $279, Full Day Tuition: $439

Summer is a time filled with warmth, sunshine, and endless opportunities for adventure. As spring transitions into summer, the days become longer, the temperatures rise, and nature bursts with life. One of the most exciting things about summer is the vibrant energy all around, from the buzzing of bees and chirping of crickets to the blooming of bright flowers and lush green landscapes. People take advantage of the sunny weather to enjoy outdoor activities, from playing at the beach to exploring parks and gardens. In this program, we will dive into the wonders of summer and discover the fun and excitement this lively season brings. Get ready to soak in the warmth and joy of this sun-filled time of year!

WEEK 5:

Mechanical Engineering: Master Machines

July 14 - July 18, 9 a.m.-noon

Monday - Friday • Ages 7-12 • Half Day Tuition: $279, Full Day Tuition: $439

Students use the Engineering Design Process to design, create, test, and improve a variety of machines and mechanical systems. Students learn basics of energy, traction, aerodynamics, and durability while constructing roller coasters, eggstreem defense vehicles, and more.

Lego Robotics EV3: RoboBattles

July 14 - July 18, 12:30 p.m.-3:30 p.m. • Monday - Friday • Ages 7-12

Half Day Tuition: $279, Full Day Tuition: $439

The classes in the LEGO® EV3 Robotics Program are designed to introduce students to both robot building as well as programming. The students will build robots to accomplish a specific task while using their imagination to make their robot better than the basic robot. Throughout this course the students will explore different ways in which a robot could be utilized to engage in various battle challenges.

Week 6:

Aerospace Engineering: Up, Up, and Away

July 21 - July 25, 9 a.m.-noon

Monday - Friday

Ages 7-12 • Half Day Tuition: $279, Full Day Tuition: $439

During the Aerospace Engineering classes, students use the Engineering Design Process to design, create, test, and refine a variety of flying machines. They construct a shock absorbing system designed to protect two marshmallow astronauts in a lunar vehicle, create their own air-powered rockets, and assemble a model blimp that actually takes flight!

Educational Minecraft: Traveling into the Future

July 21 - July 25, 12:30 p.m.-3:30 p.m. • Monday - Friday

Ages 7-12 • Half Day Tuition: $279, Full Day Tuition: $439

This class will immerse students in the expansive world of Minecraft, and will challenge student's ingenuity and problem solving skills as they navigate through several engineering challenges. Students will learn how to use teamwork and manage resources like an engineer in the real world. Building in Minecraft allows students to experiment with designs and materials, all without the risks associated with building structures in reality.

WEEK 7:

Jr. Mission to Mars

July 28 - Aug. 1, 9 a.m.-noon • Monday - Friday • Ages 4-7

Half Day Tuition: $279, Full Day Tuition: $439

Our Junior Engineers will be inspired by Mars-themed children's literature featured in this class. The stories will deepen their knowledge and spark their imaginations as they engage in hands-on engineering challenges using EFK's Engineering Design Process. In the stories and challenges, students will explore various topics in science, as well as mechanical, aerospace, geologic, and environmental engineering. This camp is sure to spark children's imagination and ignite their curiosity about the future of Mars exploration.

Jr. Marine Engineering

July 28 - Aug. 1, 12:30 p.m.-3:30 p.m. • Monday - Friday

Ages 4-7 • Half Day Tuition: $279, Full Day Tuition: $439

What causes something to sink or float? How can engineers help explore and protect the ocean below? These questions and more are all explored in Junior Marine. In this class, students explore the concepts of marine engineering and mechanics, harnessing the power of water, and discovering designs that help us make the impossible, possible.

Hope - Boise State, Eva - Texas State University
Hope and Eva were both outstanding student-athletes for the Cavaliers. They both were team captains of their respective teams (Hope for Cheer and Eva for Dance). Hope and Eva also participated in many other activities in the school including the Student Athletic Leadership Team. We are so proud of both of these young ladies!
Congratulations, Hope and Eva!
Go Cavs!
Thank you Sun Glow for the continued support of our athletes!

Dominic Macon
Wrestling and Football
University of Washington
Our winner was Dominic Macon. Dom wrestled and played football for us, as well as playing in the marching band. He is now going on to the University of Washington on a full-ride football scholarship to play for the Huskies!
Way to go, Dominic!
Go Hawks!
Thank you Sun Glow for the continued support of our athletes!
